

In coordination with the Inter-Cluster Working Group, the Camp Coordination and Camp Management (CCCM) Cluster continues to advocate for non-creation of new camp-like settings in Juba. Humanitarian interventions should be aimed at providing temporary emergency assistance that will not serve as a pull factor for IDPs to remain in the sites.

OCHA reports that 14,084 people remain displaced by the insecurity in Juba. Of these, 10,838 people are sheltering in the UN Tong Ping and UN House bases. An estimated 3,246 IDPs are staying in Don Bosco collective center in Gumbo.

UNMISS TONGPING

CCCM

Camp Management

- Estimated population figure remains at 4,000.
- Camp management continues to support the movement of IDPs from one location in the site to another to facilitate construction of communal shelters.

Relocation

- The dry run of the relocation route involving all participants of the relocation convoy participants (IOM busses with UNMISS and SPLA escort) will take place today 26 July.
- The relocation is expected to begin on Wednesday 27 July, the planned relocation is contingent on feedback from UN House on preparedness for reception of IDPs.
- 210 IDPs have voluntarily registered for relocation, indicating that they have family or plots at UN House. This group will be prioritized for relocation.
- It is planned for two rotations of relocation convoy to take place, at 0800 hours and 1300 hours.
